

Tragic... Winehouse

Amy fans outraged by 'sick' drugs ad

By DAN SALES

GRIEVING fans of Amy Winehouse hit out last night after a political party used the tragic singer's photo for an anti-drugs campaign.

Amy, who died two weeks ago aged just 27, is shown above the slogan "No - to the decriminalisation of drugs".

One fan said: "How can they do something like this? It is so disrespectful and completely tasteless. It's sick."

The ad was created by a branch of the Swiss youth political party Young SVP. So far it has only appeared online, but the group may also put up printed posters.

Party president Gregory Logean claimed Amy's death illustrated the harmful effects of drugs. He said the Rehab

U.N. HUMAN RIGHTS BID TO HALT GYPSY EVICTION

GYPSIES may dodge eviction from a giant travellers' camp — after the UN claimed it could breach human rights laws.

Officials from the United Nations have waded into the row over scores of families blighting a UK site.

A total of 300 travellers have been given until the end of the month to quit the Dale Farm site at Crays Hill, near Basildon, Essex, for breaking planning rules. But the £9½million eviction could be in disarray after the UN insisted they deserve compensation.

By NEIL MILLARD

UN housing official Raquel Rolnik called on the Government to delay the operation to kick the gypsies out, saying: "Evitions constitute a grave breach of human rights if not carried out with full respect for international standards.

"It is of utmost importance that the rights of the residents to fair compensation for their lost homes and the provision of adequate alternative housing are respected."

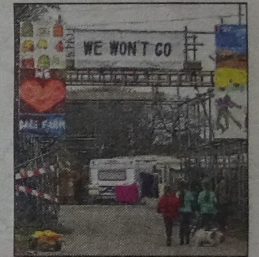

The former scrapyard currently has 100 pitches

Meddling... United Nations

but only 49 have planning permission. Travellers have been on the site for ten years. They have been blamed for Crays Hill's primary school being named the the worst-performing in the country in 2009.

Candy Sheridan, of the Gypsy Council, claimed the decision to evict the families was "based on racism". The Government said Basildon Council was within its rights to throw them out.

n.millard@the-sun.co.uk

Defiance... gypsy site

